Democracy Retreat

1000 Brussels, Belgium
18 October 2024 | 12:30-14:30 CET

In the past two decades, populism has surged worldwide, often challenging established democratic norms and structures while also increasing the risk of authoritarianism. Under Chatham House rules, this lunch dialogue will explore the use and misuse of democratic innovations — such as referenda, participatory budgeting, and citizen assemblies— by populist agendas. It will do so with one key question in mind: what strategies can be employed to balance the potential benefits of democratic innovations with the risks of their misuse for populist gains?

Co organised by TEPSA and the Egmont Institute, the event will discuss the following questions:

- Can participatory reforms and deliberative processes effectively address the rise of populism and its roots?
- How can democratic innovations be safeguarded against misuse by populist movements while still enhancing citizen participation?
- What strategies can be implemented to mitigate the risks of democratic innovations being co-opted by populist agendas?

This lunch will bring together 40 participants from policy circles, such as the European Commission, the Council, Members of Parliament, political parties and experts in democratic innovations and researchers from sister Horizon projects on democracy (Nets4Dem & RECLAIM).

Meet the Speakers

Nets4Dem's second Democracy Retreat will feature three interventions from Elizabeth Calderón Lüning (The Democratic Society), David Mekkaoui (Europe MédiaLab) and Mara Almeida (European Commission) and plenary discussions. Invitees will also engage in active conversations around roundtables, guided by a set of questions.

About Nets4Dem

This retreat is organised as part of Networks of Networks 4 Democracy (Nets4Dem), an Horizon Europe project coordinated by Democratic Reporting International. To enhance and transform the landscape of democracy initiatives, Nets4Dem brings together more than 200 cities, over 50 think tanks and universities, and dozens of democracy-focused NGOs across 38 European countries. Co-organised by the Trans European Policy Studies Association (TEPSA) and the Egmont Institute, this series of retreats aims to equip stakeholders with cutting-edge strategies to strengthen and renew democratic processes in Europe. Additionally, by promoting innovative approaches to democratic governance, these events foster knowledge-sharing and collaboration among policy-makers, practitioners, and democracy researchers.
